President Sends for Gov. Dole. McLachlan Reads Riot Act to Loud.

IBY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

W ARHINGTON, March 6—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Taylor today ordered that telegrams be sent to Los Angeles stopping work upon the Postoffice Buildingt here under the present contract. This was done after a conference with Representative 2Mc-Lachian this morning. The treasury officials consider that, so long as an effort is to be made to get Congress to make an increased appropriation for this building, the expense under the present contract might as well te stopped now, when the bill to be paid for damages is comparatively mail.

The plans for this public building are broadening out considerably. An effort is going to be made to get Congress to agree to an appropriation of M'LACHLAN WORKED UP.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Representative Mc-Lachlan is much worked up over the postoffice situation at Watsonville. He recommended George C. Radcliff for the place, and secured the indorsements of Senators Perkins and Bardabut there was a hitch. The incumbent, Osborn, remained in office, though his term expired January 19. McLachlan went to Postmaster-General Payne and learned that Representative Loud was responsible for the hold-up. At Loud's request the postal authorities had taken no action. Loud wants Osborn to remain. postal authorities had taken no ac-tion. Loud wants Osborn to remain. McLachian read the riot act to Loud for interfering with patronage in a district not his own. Loud retorted that Watsonville is no longer in Mc-lachian's district, but will be in Needham's district next year. McLachlan has raised a rumpus in the Postof-fice Department, and indications are that he will succeed in having Radcliff appointed, though Loud stubbornly refuses to withdraw his opposition.

McLachlan feels that he has been badly treated all around, in view of the President's appointment of Postmaster W. H. Peck at Lompoc in the face of McLachlan's recommendation of Alexander McLean. Both Senators had indorsed McLean for the place. Senator Bard's indorsement was ulmost non-committal, but he said to-day that he would stand by it. Both Senators are greatly surprised that Senators are greatly surprised that the President should disregard their wishes in the matter, but they will hardly go to the extent of opposing the President's confirmation.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The President is going to delve deeply into Hawaijan afraira. Today he telegraphed to San Francisco to have word sent to Honolulu by the next steamer, asking Gov. Dole to come here right away and have a conference. This telegram was sent after the President had a talk with George M. Carter of Hawail, who came here, also at the President's request.

All this lessens Sam Parker's chances of getting appointed Governor of Hawail. Parker was here a few weeks ago, and he got the notion firmly fixed in his head that he was going to be appointed. DECISION IN MAINE CASE

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED TREES—P.M.)

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Today the Spanish Treaty Claims Commission handed down a decision against the claimants for deaths and injuries received by officers and seamen in the wreck of the battleship Maine in Havana Harbor.

The commission holds that individual claims of citizens of one nation may arise against the government of another nation for redress of injuries to persons or property which such citizens may have sustained from such government or any of its agents, but such individual claims do not arise in favor of the officers and seamen of a ship-of-war who receive, in the line of duty, injuries to their persons for which a foreign government is responsible. The claim against the foreign government is wholly national, and all injuries to such officers and seamen are merged in the mational injury, and they can look only to their own government for such remuneration as it may choose to give them.

"A seaman injured by the explosion which destroyed the battleship Maine in the harbor of Havana, Cuba, February 15, 1898, had no individual claim against Spain, even if that government, was responsible to the United States for the explosion, and, therefore, such a seaman is not entitled to an award in his favor from the Spanish Treaty Claims Commission organized by the act of Congress of March 2, 1901, to ad-

On Monday a premature explosion of dynamite caused gas to ignite, and since that time, the mine has been burning. All the sir channels were closed, and it was hoped that the flames could be smothered. This morning twenty men entered the mine to investigate, and it is thought that the turning on of the air which had been shut off by the fan, caused the gas which had accumulated, to ignite. A terrible explosion followed soon after the men entered.

A relief party headed by Superintendent Seddon and Mine Inspector Loutitt made an effort, and nearly succeeded in reaching the imprisoned men, but were compelled to return to air. All were overcome, and are tonight in a serious condition. A second relief party, headed by John Coulter, entered the mine by another way, but a second explosion occurred, and they were forced to retreat. A third relief party made a futile attempt.

A fourth attempt will be made to reach the bodies of the men who are believed to have perished. James Hagger was reached by one rescuing party. He was found badly burned. James Terrent was burned by the flames that shot up all around him, but he crawled a thousand feet from his companion, Gilder, who was killed instantly.

When the conference met tonight everybody was in a fighting mood. Men who support the Ways and Means Committee's bill to reduce the tarfff did all the talking, for the simple reason that they had the organization with them, and no other men were allowed to speak. Representative Dalzeli of Pennsylvania, who is a member of the Ways and Means Committee, and who has labored incessantly for the duction of the Cuban tariff, made long speech in favor of the proposition and during his remarks it was asked whether, if Cuban people produced from and steel instead of sugar, he would favor going to their relief by lowering the duty upon iron and steel. He frankly admitted that he would not. and added that if he came from a beetsugar State like California or Michigan, he would stand in the same place as do the Representatives from those States. But beyond talk, nothing was done tonight. The Cuban revisionists did not dare let a vote be had, know-ing that if they did they would be beaten, and shortly before midnight the conference adjourned.

Many good Republicans express the fear that the fight will become so bitter that it will cause considerable of a plit in the Republican party, if it be much farther. In order sugar men to force a final vote in conference next Tuesday night and try to end the fight there.

CHAIRMAN PAYNE'S STATEMENT. (BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS.P.M.)
WASHINGTON, March 6.—Chairman
Payne of the Ways and Means Committee today gave out the following authorized 'statement in connection with the discussion over Cuban reciprocity.

mittee today gave out the following authorized 'statement in connection with the discussion over Cuban reciprocity.

"I think the large majority of the Republicans have made up their minds that we must do something for Cuba. There are three propositions presented which have this professed end in view. The proposition of Mr. Morris of Minnesota provides for an increase in the tariff on sugar to the outside world and a rebate on sugar imported from Cuba. It does not seem to me that many Republicans are willing to increase the duty on sugar.

"Then there is the proposition of Mr. Tawney to vote between $7,000,000 and $5,000,000 directly into the Cuban reasury and to ask the Cuban government to distribute about $1,000,000, according to his figures, to native Cuban planters. This first payment is to be paid without any compensation from Cuba in any way or manner, a pure gift to the Cuban government. It hardly needs the opinion of a lawyer to say that such a procedure would be unconstitutional. His proposition further is to pay a like sum yearly on the granting of reciprocal concessions and the passage of our immigration and exclusion laws.

"Of course, no bounty of this kind could be distributed without a scandal and a fraud. In the next place, seven-eighths of the Cuban laborers would still remain without work. It would be just as easy for the sugar trust to obtain a concession where the planter knew he was to have a 20-per-cent. concession in duty. Thus Mr. Tawney's proposition has no advantages over that of a 20-per-cent. reduction of duties. This would in jure no home industry. Coupled with the provision to extend our exclusion laws to Cuba, no one appearing before the Committee on Ways and Means contended that it would so injure home industries. All agreed that the price of sugar to the American consumer would remain the same. Nor would it inure to the benefit of the sugar trust. The witnesses before the committee on the busylng sugar, either in Hawaii or Porto Rico, since the duty was reduced or removed. The e the Cabinet is not divided on this ques-tion, nor have a majority of the Hous-Republicans committed themselves either to the Morris or the Tawney pol-icy. The proposition of 20 per cent reduction, if adopted, will put off, in my judgment, the annexation of Cube-for many years. She will not come in until her population is Americanized from the States. It will settle the question for generations to come, and give rest and tranquillity to the sugar business.

'If the reduction is made, no further change will be made. We have annexation and free trade. To refuse to do anything would put the House in a position hostile to the President: would cause uncertainty and a feeling of apprehension to the producers of sugar in the States, and would be utterly demoralizing."

Personal Assessment of George W Vanderbilt is Reduced from Two Mil lion to Ten Thousand Dollars.
[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

IBY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRIESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, March 6.—George W. Vanderbilt has appeared before Commissioner Gillespie of the Department of Taxes and Assessments and obtained a reduction of his personal assessment from $2,000,000, which was fixed by the last board, to $10,000.

In applying for this reduction, Vanderbilt introduced something of an inovation. Instead of pleading non-residence, he told Commissioner Gillespie that, while he was worth all that the assessment called for, his wealth principally is in real estate and in securities, which were either non-taxable or else taxed by the State. Without particularizing, he indicated that most of his holdings were in trust companies and kindred corporations, of which the local authorities have no control.

TO PUSH THE REFERENDUM. CHICAGO, March 6.—The Referen-dum League of Chicago announces the formation of a national party for the promotion of the initiative and referen-dum in all the cities of the United States. The new party will be known as the National Non-Partisan Federa-tion for majority rule. George H. Shib-ley, the organizer, will travel from city to city, organizing referendum leagues. The aim will be to secure the passage in each State of a bill compelling municipalities to recognize petitions signed by 5 per cent, of the voters, in order that the question may be voted upon by the people.

There will be many crops raised in the Imperial Sottlements this season that will more than pay, not only for the land, but for the water rights also. This is the verdict of some of the best and most experienced ranchmen now in the Settlements. Look at the crops that can be gathered this season. First, a crop of barley, either for hay or grain, and then a crop of sorghum or millet for feed. It is easier to raise two crops on this land in a single season than it is to raise one crop on the farm lands of Iowa or Illisois, and when the crops are gathered the land is in good condition to sow to alfalfa, after which from four to six crops per eason can be cut.

These lands with water can be had for from S13.50 to S15.00 per acre; easy terms. See about this today.

COMES TO GRIEF. BOLD HIGHWAYMAN ZENKINS. BOLD HIGHWATMAN ZENKINS.

INT DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES!

TACOMA, March 6.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) A bold highwayman, giving the name of Peter Jenkins, entered the station at Stanwood on the Great Northern coast line yrsterday morning, drove out the agen: at the point of a revolver, and declared he would take charge of the office himself. His object di dnot seem to be to take the cash, for he made no attempt to get possession of the money. When the north-bound train came along, Jenkins abandoned his forcibly-acquired job as station agent, and boarding the train, held up the conductor for his fare. The depot agent returned to his work, and held up the conductor for his fare. The depot agent returned to his work, and wired to Mt. Vernon to arrest the man when the train arrived there. Two officers at Mt. Vernon entered the car from different doors. The highwayman covered the one approaching from the front with his revolver. The one from the rear, however, smashed him over the head with his club and placed him under arrest. He was taken before a justice and bound over for trial.

Full one hundred men applied at the Union Iron Works for work, but only fifty-three were accepted. The others were given to understand that they might apply from day to day, and that they would be given employment as circumstances might require. It is believed that several weeks will elapse before the last of the complement of the Union Iron Works working force will be restored to their old places in the shop.

At the Risdon Works several hundred applications for reinstatement were field. During the morning a bare half dozen were put to work, and in the afternoon some twenty were told to show up this morning. At the other shops, which are identified with the Metal Trades Association, the striking machinists were cordially received. A conservative estimate of those who went back fixes the figure at less than 100.

machinists were cordially received. A conservative estimate of those who went back fixes the figure at less than 100.

It is contended by the members of the Iron Trades Council that the strike was declared off pending an adjustment of the trouble by the arbitration committee of the National Civic Federation. This is emphatically denied by the mersbers of the Metal Trades' Association, who declare that there is nothing to arbitrate, and that the strikers will resume operations under the schedule as to hours and wages in force prior to the inauguration of the strike.

Curt Marin Horway (1889) DICTATORS OF DRUG PRICES.

Cuts by the "Cutters"

The very worst thing our enemies-the local high-price drug association, and the little local jobbers-can honestly say of us is that we are "cutters," and we plead guilty to the charge. We stand ready to hack any price the sick room taxers can make. The long list we advertise today at less than wholesale prices is proof of our ability to keep prices down.

Burton's Blood Syrup only 75c

This is the season of the year to use a good blood purifier. Nine-tenths of the people need a "spring medicine." The heat produc-ing foods of winter leave the system clogged and the blood loaded with impurities, Burton's Blood Syrup does more than most blood remedies. It is not only the most thorough purifier produced, but it aids digestion and regulates functional activity throughout the entire system. No other remedy helps so quickly. A sense of health, energy and buoyancy of spirits follows the first few doses.

Lesley's Dental Cream 15c

A delightfully agreeable tooth-cleansing preparation. It is more than this, for it preserves your teeth as well. Though entirely harmless, it possesses antiseptic properties that destroy every lurking germ that may find lodgment in the mouth. FIFTY-SEVENTH CONGRESS.

IBY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.I states. Pending discussion of the bill, Mr. Frye of Maine, in charge of the shipping bill, asked unanimous con-sent that a final vote upon that bill and all amendments be taken Monday, March 17, at 3 o'clock p.m. Without comment, the Senate agreed to the March 17, at 3 o'clock p.m. Without comment, the Senate agreed to the request.

Mr. Bacon of Georgia, a member of the Judicary Committee, then discussed the bill for the protection of the President. It was, he thought, a very grave question, and he did not believe the measure ought to be passed without amendment.

In view of the recent calamity which had befalien the naston in the assassination of President McKinley, the subject of the pending bill was a difficult one to discuss. He paid high tribute to the President, saying he was the most "ambable, courtoous and pleasant man I have ever met in high station," and from him he had always received the kindest consideration.

Mr. Bacon believed the proposed law was unnecessary, and did not provide a more certain punishment for the sessassin than was provided now in the State laws. The world he insisted, was not large enough for the criminal to get beyond the reach of the law, and there was no place secret enough in which to hide himself from avenging justice. He urged that the bill indicated there was not sufficient reliance upon the criminal laws of the several States.

Mr. Depew of New York pointed out that in the State laws there was no differentation between the assassination of the President of the United States than that in the State laws there was no dif-ferentation between the assassination of the President of the Unifed States than of any other person, and an attempt at assassination was not punishable with death in any State, as the pending bill provided.

Mr. Platt of Connecticut suggested, too, that some States had laws against capital punishment.

Mr. Bacon, contuning, said that the

Mr. Platt of Connecticut suggested, too, that some States had laws against capital punishment.

Mr. Bacon, continuing, said that the bill involved the right and the propriety of the Federal government to enforce a law within a State different from any law on the statute books of the State. So far as the anarchist was concerned, the death penalty was not a deterrent against the crime of assassination, as the anarchist was willing to sacrifice his own life.

Mr. Hoar of Massachusetts interrupted to say that the pending hill was proper, because the assassination or attempted assassination of the President was an interruption of the government, and it was vitally important to the government that such interruption should not occur.

Mr. Bacon urged that the bill at least ought to be amended in accordance with his proposition already offered, so that it should be shown that the crime was committed against the President, "because of his official position, or for the purpose of destroying the government or impairing the execution of its constitutional powers.

Mr. Bacon and proposed to make treason of something that, under the Constitution, was not treason.

Mr. Patterson of Colorado suggested treason and proposed to make treason of something that, under the Constituflon, was not treason.

Mr. Patterson of Colorado suggested that a most embarrassing situation would have arisen had the assassing tion of President McKinley, for instance, occurred in the State of Jowa, where capital punishment is not permissible. It would have resulted, he believed, in the State being disgraced by mob law, as no American cummunity, he thought, would have been satisfied with mere imprisonment for the assassin of President McKinley. He agreed with the main purpose of the bill.

THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.1 WASHINGTON, March 6.—Mr. Pat-terson opposed some of the provisions of the pending measure, because they preposed to designate as crimes things not now considered as crimes, and he remarks. Mr. Clay of Georgia resumed his speech on the shipping bill, began yesterday. He predicted the complete failure of the pending measure. Natural charges alone, he argued, could increase the foreign carrying trade of the United States.

Mr. Hanna then addressed the Senate, his remarks being principally in answer to Mr. Clay's speech of yesterday. He said that when Mr. Clay quoted from Mr. Frye's remarks that all there was in this question which required explanation was embraced in the one question of labor, he was correct.

"I stand by that proposition, but I go further. The ore in the ground is worth about 25 cents a ton. After it was touched by the hand of man it was labor. Ninety-five per cent. of the cost of a ship built in American ship-yards or in any shipyard is purely labor. The cost of the construction of a ship in the United States as against either England, Germany or France simply measures the difference of wages and the efficiency of American labor."

Mr. Hanna declared that the mer-chant marine was the only industry in the United States which had not re-ceived the fostering care of this gov-of the President of the United States to use it in the most effective many to use it in the most effective many serior. Senator Hanna said that if the United States failed to profit by the experience of the older countries of Europe who have adopted a policy in reference to maritime matters, it would make a most serious mistake. Every merchant ship constructed in the American countries was meant to be a ship of war in time of war. Mr. Hanna cited the feeling of uneasiness along the Atlantic Coast at the beginning of hastilities with Spain, and the relief which was experienced when the four steamers of the American line were called on by the Secretary of the Navy, under the condition of the law passed by Congress to perform picket service. He insisted that it was as important a national question as an economic policy to carry with the expenditure for building up the navy, the expenditure for an auxillary navy, and merchant marrine.

There is something more in this transportation question, he said, than merely carrying mail matter; there is more in it than dollars and cents to the United States. He would like it, he said, to be discussed above party considerations, because every one felt a like pride in our country's advancement and development, and whatever inat the Senator, being in touch with that class of people."

"Why does the Senator say I am in touch with them?" interjected Mr. Hanna.

Mr. Tillman repiled: "The Senator is a man engaged in shipping, is he not?"

"On the Great Lakes, yes," responded Mr. Hanna. "But why does the Senator assume that I know what Mr. Morgan has done?"

"I thought the Senator and Mr. Morgan were friends," repiled Mr. Tillman. "I know nothing about the purchase of the Leyland line by J. P. Morgan & Co.," said Mr. Hanna, "any more than the Senator does. That is simply the investment of American capital. Under the provisions of this bill, not a single one of these vessels ever will come under an American register or an American flag."

Mr. Hanna said: "Capital seeks only investment from which it can get returns."

"If that be true," inquired Mr. Tillman, "why did the German Emperor not go to England to get his yacht built, instead of coming to this country."

AMr. Hanna said there were some things he could not answer, but he thought Prince Henry was glad the Emperor did not do it.

"Perhaps the Senator has not heard of the success and prestige of America in the yachting line." suggested Mr. Hanna, amid laurhter. The German Emperor, he said, wanted the yacht made, and therefore he came here.

Mr. Tillman wanted to know what kind of yacht it was, and Mr. Depew described it as a sailing racing machine of the same type as beat the two Shamrocks.

Mr. Hanna declared that not an American shipyard had a contract for another merchant vessel after the nine or ten vessels now under contract were finished.

"Everybody knows," continued Mr. Hanna, "that the United States is now

The Philippine archipelago was, the key to the Orient, said he, and when it had become a naval station, surrounded by all the protection that a maritime fleet would need, it would become a factor in our commercial conditions in the Orient. Mr. Hanna then said it was the purpose of the bill under the postal system to establish a line on the Atlantic coast of South America. England had gained her supremacy in the markets of the world by pursuing the policy of establishing direct communication.

"Personal contact." he said, "is what brings results, and England. Germany and France are now energetically at work to put in the connecting link between the Pacific and the Orient." He spoke of the benefit that the passage of the bill would bring as a result of increased trade with South American countries, saying that trade now went by way of Liverpool and Hamburg, in foreign ships, and thence was trans-shipped to South American ships. Here would be an increase of American trade.

In closing, Mr. Hanna again adverted to the question of the cost of labor, maintaining that wages in this country averaged 50 per cent. higher than in European countries. The cost of ships built in the United States was from 25 per cent. to 30 per cent. higher than in European countries. Richardson of Tennessee announced that he would not serve as chairman of the Congressional Committee again because of ill-health. Senator Clark is the man most likely to succeed him. The latter is confident that there will be harmony in the Democratic ranks when the fall battle begins, but is not inclined to talk about the means.

"The situation is not yet sufficiently cleared up," he said today. "The leading men in the party will get together before the Congressional campaign begins, and the reorganization question will be settled satisfactorily.

"The issues are not yet fixed. They will depend largely upon what is done in Congress in the next few montha. It is impossible to predict what will happen before adjournment this session, and the issues may be materially changed. Unquestionably the Philippine question will play a very important part in the campaign. Whether it will overshadow all others it is too carly to say, but it will be very promnent."

Gertrude Warner Scott Cured by the Great Kidney Remedy,

Vinton, Iowa, July 15th, 1901.

DR. KILMER & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Gentlemen: In the summer of 1893, I was taken violently ill. My trouble began with pain in my stomach and back, so severe that it seemed as if knives were cutting me. I was treated by two of the best physicians in the county, and consulted another. None of them suspected that the cause of my trouble was kidney disease. They all told me I had cancer of the stomach, and would die. I grew so weak that I could not walk any more than a child a month old, and I only weighed sixty pounds. One day my brother saw in a paper your advertisement of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy. He bought me a bottle at our drug store and I took it. My family could see a change in me, for the better, so they obtained more and I continued the use of Swamp-Root regularly. I was so weak and run down that it took considerable time to build me up again. I sam now well, thanks te Swamp-Root, and weigh 148 pounds, and am keeping house for my husband and brother, on a farm. Swamp-Root cured me after the doctors had failed to do me a particle of good. DR. KILMER & CO., Binghamton, N. Y.

Women suffer untold misery because the nature of their disease is not correctly understood; in many cases when doctoring, they are led to believe that womb trouble or female weakness of some sort is responsible for their ills, when in fact disordered kidneys are the chief cause of their distressing troubles.

The mild and extraordinary effect of the world-famous kidney and bladder remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. A trial will convince anyone—and you may have a sample bottle sent free, by mail.

Joseph H. Choate, American Ambas Joseph H. Choate. American Ambas-sador to Great Britain, in replying to a toast, "The ambassadors," said that upon returning from America, the land of sunshine, to the impenetrable fog of London, he began to think his country owed more to sunshine than many of his courtrymen were willing to believe. He was ready to concede that the in-habitants of these foggy islands had had marvelous centuries of success and had marvelous centuries of success and renown. The future alone could tell, continued the speaker, what his own countrymen might achieve under continued the speaker, what his own countrymen might acfileve under brighter skies.

Ambassador Choate eloquently referred to two dreamers, who had lived 150 years apart. The first was Benjamin Franklin, who pictured the American continent peopled and ruled by the British; the second was Lord Rossebery, who indulged in pictures of what might have happened, if a separation had not occurred. Choate asked if the actual picture seen today was not far grander than the pictures either of Franklin or Rossebery. Great Britian and America were mighty nations, standing together as friends, not allies; neither one looking down or up to the other, but oh a strict equal footing: both equals in energy, resources and ambition and working out on absolutely independent lines the same great ends of civilization, knowledge and liberty.

England had a direct trade with Cuba of over $10,000,000 in addition to considerable indirect trade through New York and Liverpool. The traders had grounds for believing that there was an infention existing to make a reciprocity treaty with the United States by means of which a concession will be given which may destroy the greater part of the trade.

The meeting agreed that action was necessary and that the chambers of the

Maj. Higginson then personally led in a cheer for Emperor William, and the meeting was over.

The royal visitor was taken next, under the guidance of Maj. Higginson and President Eliot to the new architectural building. Here he was shown the drawings and paintings of the students, and examined them carefully. He plied President Eliot with questions about them. There was a half-hour interval before the time set for the reception of the Germanic Museum Association at the residence of Prof. Ilugo Munsterberg, and this time was occupied with an inspection of the Hemenway gymnasium. Here there were many students at work, clad in meagér costume. The chest weights, horizontal bars and dumb-bell exercises attracted his attention, and he asked Dr. Sargent, the physical director, many questions about individual men whom he notized among the students at work.

The Prince and his suite were most interested in the rowing machines. Dr. Sargent personally showed him the mechanism of one of these machines, and pulled a few strokes upon it himself. Prince Henry said that he had had numerous arguments with members of his staff about the effect of a wrong movement of the body upon a racing shell. After Dr. Sargent's illustration, the Prince said: "I have an opportunity to tell them "I told you so."

The trophy room was visited, and the mementos were explained to him. Soon the carriages were driven for the home of Prof. Munsterberg. Here Prince Henry found many men and women his own nationality, and decorations the German style.

REMARKS BY THE PRINCE. When the Prince and Presiden Ellot had met Prof. and Mrs. Munster

When the Prince and President Eliot had met Prof. and Mrs. Munsterberg, they were conducted into the library, where stood Henry W. Putnam, chairman of the board of directors of the Germanic Museum. He addressed the Prince, and in response Prince Henry said:

"Allow me in a few words to thank you for the kindness which you have shown me here, and to tell you that the United States has been watched from the other side during the last year. We are aware of the marvelous industry which has brought your country to its position, and we are also aware of the existence of the Germanic Museum Association, and especially His Majesty, the German Emperor, my brother and sovereign, whom I have the honor to represent here, kept his eye upon it.

"He has ordered me to hand over to you these photos of reproductions of monuments, which are going to be reproduced in casts. The work, if I may say it, is just in its first stages. The casts are now being made, sand it will be about four months before the German Emperor is able to send them and put them in your hands. May I not then offer these to you. President Eliot?" And he handed to President Eliot?" And he handed to President Eliot? And he handed to President Eliot a large portfolio of photographs of German monuments, and other places of German architecture.

The Prince caused a general laugh as he spoke to President Eliot and placed the gift in his keeping, by saying aside to Mr. Putnam: "I think, perhaps, they would be in the safest hands with you." He immediately added: "No offense to you."

Addressing himself, to Mr. Putnam, he then added: "It is meant for the welfare, of course, of the nation, as well as for the university." and this remark brought forth general applause.

President Eliot responded appromistely, and returned the university's remark brought forth general applause.

President Eliot responded appropriately, and returned the university's thanks for the gift. When President Fliot had stopped speaking, Prince Henry said: "I hope it will promote good feeling between the two nations." It cannot do otherwise," replied President Eliot, "and the good feeling rests on common stock, on common motives and ideals, and many of the German ideals will doubtless be expressed in this collection in the works mal welcome to Prince Henry was concentrated in the banquet at the Somerset this evening. To the sentiments expressed there, His Royal Highness made a formal response.

The hall was lavishly decorated, yellow being the predominating floral color. The Prince's entry into the hall accompanied by Mayor Collins was hailed with cheers. At the proper time the Mayor made his preliminary speech and called for a toast to the President of the United States, imnediately following this by al call for a toast to Emperor William of Germany. Both of these were drunk with cheers. An orchestra stationed just outside the banquet hall played appropriate selections. Prince Henry was then introduced and spoke briefly. He said:

"Mr. Mayor, Gentlemen: In giving expression to my thanks for the cordiality of the reception tendered to me. I beg to say that; shall endeavor to realize that I am the guest of a city, the predominant pride of whose inhabitants. I am informed, makes them look upon it as the 'Huu of the universe.' Seriously speaking, I should have considered my tour through this country incomplete without a visit to the principal city in the commonwealth which has played so important a part in the history of the United States and whise influence is so great and far-reacting. A State which gave to literature an Emerson, a Hawthorne and a Longfellow: to science such men as Agassiz and Thoreau, and to historical research the services of a Bancroft, Motley and Prescott, must certainly be reclaimed with as an important factor in the progress and development of the whole Prescott, must certainly be reclaimed with as an important factor in the progress and development of the whole land.

able shores. I will have gladly put up with having submitted to simultaneous finterviews of over one thousand American pressmen as well as having, and I frankly admit it, been inconveniened by the ever-ready click of the numberless photographers. Believe me, I have enjoyed my trip, and should it be my good fortune to return to the United States, I know it will be an more as an entire stranger."

The Prince was followed by Gov.

Crane, who extended a welcome on behalf of the commonwealth.
Secretary John D. Long of the Navy Department was introduced as representing the government in Washington. He said, in part:

"The significance of the Prince hers, as our guest and of his coming with his dietinguished companions to the United States marks what is almost the best phase in modern civilization, the friendly mutual relations of the nations of the world, which make them neighbors and friends, instead of aliens and enemies. As in our own country there are the sharp and intense rivalries and competitions which are necessary to secure the largest results: but under them also is a common national patriotism which makes us all stand together as one man, so among the nations at large, while it is better for the world's progress that there should be competition in trade and rivalry in growth and power, and underneath these is the recognition of a common humanity resting on great fundamental principies of peace and general welfare, the uplifting of the oppressed; the diucation of the ignorant; the bettering of human conditions; the steadily rising ethical standing of all and for all. The presence of our guest tonight means international generosity in place of international ing of all and for all. The presence of our guest tonight means international generosity in place of international generosity in place of international generosity in place of international lealousy closer relations instead of estrangement, arbitration before war."

Other toasts were by Collector of the Port George H. Lyman, representing the government of Massachusetts; President Elliott, representing Harvard University; Richard Carter, representing business men of Massachusetts and Boston, and Col. Thomas Wentworth Higginson, soldler of the Civil War.

Why Prince Henry Smiled.

The impressive military reception of the royal visitor to the Capital City the display of gorgeous scarlet, mauve craam and buff uniforms, with their yards of gold braid and stiver lace, was not without its humor. One little feature of the famous ginner at the White House in the evening served to cause considerable merriment among the notable guests, which little incident having leaked out has served as a merry horse on a well-known boniface. This same patron saint of the weinerschnitzel, the pumpernickel and Horbrau is famed for his fondness for decorating all of the utensils of his place of business with more or less perfect likenesses of himself.

Mine host received an order from the White House on Monday. It was for certain butts of brown and lusty Wurzberger, brought from far across the seas, from the famous brew-masters of the old country. The beverage was to be accompanied by a large number of steins from which the guests might quaff the nectar and imagine themselves back once more in their own Vaterland. The brown-staved kegs were sent, and sungry boxes of steins. Each guest, Prince Henry included, glanced down as the tail white mug of the foamy was piaced in front of him, and few could keep down the emotions when they saw, painted brilliantly into the side of each stein, the familiar picture of the Pennsylvania-avenue landlord and beneath the picture this motte: "Stolen from Ernst Gerstenberg."—IWashington Post.

The goods we tell about today are in the left aisle on the ground floor, not far from the entrance. You will notice that every line of this advertisement is about new things. and that is now the prevailing note all through the store.

Newest ribbons.

You will always find at the ribbon counter a comprehensive stock of every sort of well known ribbon and a more complete assertment of every sort of well known ribbon and a more complete assortment of new ideas than you might expect. Just now we are showing a rare line of extreme novelties emong them—
Grass lines effects six inches wide with stripe edges, especially suitable for trimming the new pring hats.

Satin taffetas live inches wide with a plain ground, embroidered in dots in all colors. An eight inch plaid for soshes in all of the postel shades. Each and every pattern of this beauti ul ritbon is a work of ort.

An unusually beautiful line of seven inch self-woven polks dots in all of the new shedings.

A new belt

This is about a line of beaded elastic belts which is now shown for the first time. They come is steel and turquoise, steel and caral, steel and jet, and in plain jet. They embrace a variety of shapes, including straight and pointed affects and girdle backs. The price of these belts ranges from $1.50 to $4.75 each.

Two newest perfumes.

Le Perlum Houbigant Ideal is without exception one of the most exquisite perlumes ever produced and cannot be duplicated here. This perlume is put up in 2 oz. cut glass bottles and packed in fancy boxes at $3.50 a bottle.

The second new perlume to which we call attention is Violets Forness which is extremely delicate and reliaed and has remarkable lasting qualities, We retail it at $1.50 an ounce.

DOW'S DIRE DILEMMA.

Unusual Experience of Millionaire's Son.

Deserted by Wife and Exiled from City.

Had to Leave Los Angeles or Languish in Jail-Hair Turned Gray.

C. A. Dow, the reputed son of a New York millionaire broker, was exiled from Los Angeles last night under peculiar circumstances.

Dow is a handsome young fellow, who came here from Chicago December 19 and obtained employment as a tallyho excursion manager at the Yan Nuys Hotel.

He was accompanied by his wife.

A tallyho excursion manager at the Van Nuys Hotel.

He was accompanied by his wife, whose good looks and swell attire attracted much attention—se much, in fact; Dow and his friends allege, that she was won away from him.

The couple lived at Hotel Knox until three weeks ago, when she deserted him. Dow is alleged to have lavished all of his earnings upon her, and when she left his bed and board, she took everything they had, even Dow's wardrobe, except what he had on his back, with her.

Dow accused the woman of being too intimate with other men; but he reached by the husband's arrest on the charge of making threats to take her life. The warrant was not served on him, however, until last Wednesday evening, when Dow was taken into into custody.

He was arraigned before Justice Morgan yesterday and $1000 cash bail required of him pending the hearing of the case. Dow could not furnish bail in so large an amount, and begged immediate examination of the charges. The District Attorney said the witnesses for the people, among whom was mentioned Chief of Police Eliton, could not be gotten together before next Monday at the least, and a continuance of the case was esked until that time. This meant that the prisoner would have to lie in jail in the mean time, which was very much against his liking.

Finally it was stipulated that Dow should be given until 7 o'clock in the evening to procure bail or leave the city, in which latter event, the action against him would not be pressed.

As Dow could not get any one to go his security, for so large a sum, he decided te emigrate. With barrely enough funds to pay his way, he started on the Santa Fe overland at 7:15 o'clock yesterday evening for his former home in New York. He says his father is a wealthy broker at No. 10 Wall street and to the paternal roof he started to wend his way, after having knocked around in the West on his own resources for a number of years.

Dow spoke bitterly of his wife just before his departure. He sald she had $2000 worth of diamonds, a sealskin sacque and several hundred dollars in money, that he gave her, besides all of his good clothes and personal effects, which she refused to surrender to him. He said he became acquainted with her at Fort Smith, Ark. two years ago, where he had befriended her brother, whom he helped out of a serious scrape. She followed him to Illinois, he said, where he eventually married her, and in December brought her to Los Angeles for the benefit of her health, only to have her desertime.

D. Morrell, a large insurance man of the contract of the patents of the case of t

Although forced to leave, Dow almost missed his train for the East, because he owed Hiram Leithed, proprietor of the Tallyho stables a few dollars, and Leithed followed him to La Grande depot with an officer to make him disgorge. Leithed relented, however, after hearing Dow's tale of woe, and allowed him to depart in peace.

MANY DON'T KNOW. Lack of Right Food Is the Cause of S.ckness.

It is hardly fair to blame the doctor for not curing his patient when the patient attempts to live on food that furnishes the wrong kind of nourishment. When sickness comes on it is a pretty good sign that the food is not keeping the bedy up. There are thousands of cases where a change in food alone has brought the sick one out into a prime condition of health.

Portraits of Veterans.

John Label, an employé of the South-ern Pacific, caught his left hand in an automatic switch in the tracks near River Station yesterday morning, just as the switch-tender in the tower threw over a lever. Label's first and second fingers were so badly mashed that they were amputated by the police surgeon. Oil Refinery Fire.

The Coroner was notified 'yesterday of the death at No. 149 North Main street of Miss Fernande Michenon, a Frenchwoman known also as Rose Travers. She had not been attended by a physician. After investigation the Coroner issued a certificate without holding an inquest, it having been ascertained that the woman had died of congestion of the lungs after several days' lilness.

Centeracce of Grocers.

The retail grocers are to have an open meeting at Concordia Hall, 1674 North Main street tonight. The secretary of the local association, J. F. Paulding, has been making it warm for the dead beats, and the members will discussiplans to more effectively bar them from getting goods on tick. The Wholessie Grocers' Association and the Creamery Board of Trade will have propositions to present to the retailers.

Roard of Trade will have propositions to present to the retailers.

Charged With Felony.

Albert Bell, son of Maj. Horace Bell, was arrested yesterday on a charge of felony. He is alleged to have passed a check for $5, bearing a fictitious signature, on a grocer in payment for a small bill of goods. The grocer did not know him and the police have been looking for a man answering his description for about two weeks. Yesterday the grocer's attention was directed to Bell and he at once recognized him as the man wanted.

Symphony Orchestra.

The Chicago Symphony Orchestra has secured the Los Angeles Theater for an evening of sacred and classical music Sunday night, March 9. Owing to many dates in Southern California and Texas, no other night could be obtained. The orchestra will also give a sacred concert at Pasadena Operahouse on Sunday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock. The programme will be announced later. Reserved seats are now on sale at the theater box office.

Gase of Cresser.

George W. Creaser, who was arrested in Los Angeles February 8 on a charge of embessling cyclopedias from San Francisco, and who was taken to that city, has written to The Times an explanation of his troubles. He says he bought a set of cyclopedias on the installment plan, making the first payment thereon. Before the second payment was due, he says, he came to Los Angeles for the benefit of his health, and without any intention of evading future payments. The case against him was dismissed, he says, by Judge Conlan in Court No. Two, San Francisco, on March 1. Creaser says he is advised by the Chief of Police of Seattle that he is not wanted in that city under any name whatever, although it had been reported that he was supposed to be a man who had committed embessiement in that city under the name of J. A. Tennant.

For Eight-stery Building.

For Eight-stery Building.

The Los Angeles Trust Company, which recently purchased the Burdick Block from ex-Mayor Fred Eston, has had plans prepared by Architect John Parkinson for five additional stories that are to be added to the building. It is now a two-story brick with basement, located on the northeast corner of Second and Spring streets, and the additional stories will make it a seven-story brick with basement, or, as stories age estimated in eastern cities, it would be considered an eight-story structure. The company is composed of such nien as John B. Miller, William R. Staats, John S. Cravens, A. K. Macomber and J. C. Drake, and it is abundantly able to carry out the contemplated improvements. The additional stories will cost about $125,000, and when they are finished the company will have a thoroughly modern office building that will be first class in all its appointments. The contract for the iron work has been awarded to the Llewellyn Iron Works for $12,000. That for the plate glass has, also, been let. The other contracts are to be let at an early date, and the improvements pushed to completion without unnecessary delay. Application for a considerable portion of the space in the new structure has already been made. For Eight-story Building.

Falling Wall Kills a

Collapse of Building

Poor Mamie Boyle Happened

While standing on the sidewalk at the corner of Third and Rose streets in this city at 4:40 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Mamie Boyle, the fourteen-year-old daughter of John Boyle of No. 252 East First sireet, was caught under the failing wall of a building in course of construction, and completely buried under tons of brick.

Although a score of men went to work with all possible speed to rescue her, when her body was found, in less than five minutes after the accident, life was extinct. The body was horribly crushed and it is believed that death was instantaneous.

The responsibility for the accident has not as yet been fixed. The contractor says the collapse was due to a combination of circumstances; the rain which softened the mortar, the absence of anchoring devices in the wall, the high wind of yesterday afternoon. Among the hundreds of persons who visited the scene yesterday much indignation was expressed, and it was pointed out that the mortar appeared to be defective; that it crumbled in one's hand like wet sand; that the wall was in no manner braced; and that after the wall had fallen, such was the quality or condition of the mortar, that very little of it adhered to the bricks and most of the bricks were as clean as when they had been placed in position. All of these allegations may be called to the attention of the Coroner when he makes an investigation.

One of the saddest features of the tragedy is that an older sister of the unfortunate child died only a few weeks ago, and this double loss has been such a shock to the mother that there are fears that she will lose her reason.

Contractor R. L. Bell of No. 908 East Third street is erecting the building.

OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP.

The course was filled all afternoon with the different players entered in the open event which begins this morning. Play in this begins this morning at 9:30 o'clock, and the drawing last night resulted as follows: N. F. Wilshire and A. S. Baxter, H. M. Sears and E. Martin, George O'Neil and G. B. Cooksey, George Smith and A. Rigby, Willie Anderson and J. Momitt. W. Frederickson and W. Fairbanks, R. Johnstone and W. P. Johnson, W. K. Jewett and J. M. Watson, C. E. Maud and Willie Smith, F. S. Stratton and Alex Smith, F. J. Riley and H. M. Grindley, F. V. Rider and Willie Welch.

The championship will be at 72 holes, medal play, and the public is invited to be present.

for the Coroner. The body was later removed to Booth & Boylson's undertaking establishment, where the inquest will be held, probably today.

John Boyle, father of the child, was at work in the Santa Fe roundhouse, where he is employed as a bolier maker, when the news reached him. He went to the place at once, but about the time of his arrival his wife appeared in the distance, rushing frantically toward her dead daughter and screaming at the top of her voice. To permit the mother to view the mangled body was out of the question, and friends induced her to go into a neighboring residence. There the heart-broken fasher, after having taken one look at the bruised face of his child, went and tried to comfort her. Mrs. Boyle became hysterical and the services of a physician were required. At a later hour last night she had not recovered her composure.

CONTRACTOR'S STATEMENT.

Contractor Bell was seen at his home, No. 908 East Third, a short time after the accident. "I wish I could bring back that child's life and I would give all I possess to do so," he said, "but this is one of the unfortunate accidents which occur without warning and without the fault of any person. I think that the accident was due to the fact that the rain had kept the mortar from hardening and that the high wind caused the wall to fall. I had inspected that wall within an hour before the accident and found it all right, It was my intention to put in braces before the men stopped work for the day, not that I considered the wall at all unsafe, but I did not want to take any chances of having to rebuild it. The entire wall has been constructed during rainy weather, and all of the bricks and mortar were wet. The work on the building has been rapidly done, but it was safely done, and was in no sense different from that done on other buildings. The high wind undoubtedly contributed to the accident. It was a twelve-inch wall with twenty-four-inch footings, and was perhaps twenty feet in height. The mortar was all that it should have been, and I am willing to have it tested. I regret the accident more than I can tell you, but under the combination of circumstances, the rain and the wind, it could not have been avoided."

Building Superintendent Krause se-cured samples of the brick and mortar and took them to his office, where they will be subjected to a careful examina-tion. The Building Superintendent at-tributes the accident to the weather conditions.

DENVER, March 6.—Louis H. Withaup, a pension attorney of this city, who had been convicted in the United States District Court of having forged signatures to pension checks, was to-day sentenced by Judge Hallett to serve fifteen years at hard labor in the Leavenworth penitentiary. nearly twenty feet, but no front had been placed in the building. The three walls therefore formed a U-shaped structure, the highest side of which was that which ran along the property line on Rose street north from Third.

There was no bracing nor anchors in any of the three walls. THE GIRL'S LAST WALK.

There was no bracing nor anchors in any of the three walls.

THE GIRL'S LAST WALK.

The girl had left her home carly in the afternoon to visit the house of John Powers, No. 711 East Third street, with whose daughter she had been on terms of close intimacy for years. She remained there perhaps an hour and then started home, saying that she had to pass the meat store to purchase something for her father's supper. She walked east on Third street to Rose, turned the corner and walked perhaps siv feet north on Rose street There she was seen to stop for a moment and watch an approaching car.

Suddenly the wall crashed down upon her. Her back was turned and she had no chance of escape. Several persons heard the crash and saw the child fall, only to be deeply buried under a mass of bricks. The lairn was quickly given and the workmen who were engaged in another part of the building were told that the body of a child was under that fallen wall. Contractor Bell was among the first to arrive, and, as there was nothing in sight but a huge pile of brick and mortar which covered the sidewalk and extended into the street, and had demolished his buggy, which had been standing at the curb, he expressed doubts as to the excited statements of those who had witnessed the accident. His men and a score of other persons went to work at once, however, and within a few minutes they came upon the dress of the unfortunate child. Then Bell was convinced, and the efforts to release the girl were redoubled. When the last brick was removed a man lifted the body in his arms and carried it across the street and laid it on the porch in front of the residence of J. A. Finger, No. 210 Rose street.

FOR AN OLIVE MILL

Plans Made by the Olive Growers of Los Angeles and Vicinity-Association Started.

tion Started.

The olive growers of this vicinity met at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon to take steps toward forming a local organization, which is to be a branch of the Southern California Olive Growers' Association. It was decided by the central association that each olive-growing section inaugurate a local exchange, and the temporary organization perfected yesterday by the growers of this vicinity was the first step in that direction.

C. A. Washburn acted as temporary chairman at the meeting, and H. H. Lewis as secretary. The following men were elected as a Committee on Permanent Organization; C. A. Washburn, R. R. Sprague, W. E. Hughes.

It was decided to erect an olive mill in Los Angeles in time to handle next year's crop.

The crop this year has been tremendous, but the prices received have been very unsatisfactory, because of the lack of organized cooperation on the part of the growers.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

BUILDING COMMITTEE.

Reported Attempt to Sell the First National Bank Building Outright to the City—Council and Commission Divided on the Question.

Much comment has been caused by the failure of the Building Committee of the Council to report regarding the projected water department building on the City Hail lot. It was under-stood that some conclusion would be reached as soon as the water bonds were sold, but thus far nothing has been done.

Chairman Blanchard has persistently refused to consider the question in committee, and in answer to all inquiries, states that he is not yet ready to act. Rumor has it that a determined attempt is now being made to sell to the city the old First National Bank building on North Main street for a consideration variously placed between $40,000 and $60,000. The story is also going the rounds that the Los Angeles Railway Company is prepared to put up $10,000 if the water department is located near Temple Block. To this fact is ascribed the reluctance of Blanchard to report in favor of a nu-pur up $16,000 if the water department is located near Temple Block. To this fact is ascribed the reluctance of Blanchard to report in favor of a municipal building on the City Hall site.

There may be much or little truth in the rumors, but it is a fact that they find credence in well-informed quarters. Some mild criticism was engendered by the action of the Council in choosing two of the directors of the First National Bank as members of the Water Commission. Since the purchase of the old bank building was broached this criticism has been intensified. The ordinance under which the Water Commission was created provides for the payment of water rates at the office of the department. Within nine months the collectors are to be dropped and every water-rate payer will have to come to the central office to settle his water bill. If the Los Angeles Railway Company can get the office located in the old bank building on North Main street it will be a distinct victory for that corporation. As only the cars of the Huntington companies run to Temple Block, the passenger business which would result would be consideable, People living on the Traction lines in the southwest and on Boyle Heights would be compelled to pay two fares or walk from Third street to the headquarters of the department. In sections where the two car companies compete the location of the loffice on North Main street would put a premium on the Huntington lines.

Blanchard is known to be very friendly with the Los Angeles Railway Company's officials, and it is said at the City Hall that he has been committed to the plan to buy the old bank building, or, failing in that, to rent it for a term of years. Of course none of the interested parties will admit that there is anything in the taik. But there is much smoke, and according to the old adage there must be some fire.

and submitted and the whole matter was referred to the Building Committee, with whom it has since remained According to the plans a suitable building can be constructed for less than $12,000. The unused portion of the interest and sinking fund collected on the $2,000,000 defunct water bonds amounts to over $13,000, and it was proposed to use this money in the crection of the structure.

Opposition to the plan immediately developed in several quarters. Pierce objected to the use of the money, as he wished it kept intact to add in the purchase of the Highland water plant. Attorney Cherles McFarland, who has a lease on the block adjoining the City Hall lot on the morth, is opposed to the construction of a building. The street railway and banking interests, according to report, have thrown their influence into the scale and nothing has been done. The Water Commission is said to be divided on the proposition, which has effectually prevanted the question from coming to the front in the Council.

If the Board of Health carries out its intention a resolution will be adopted at the next meeting for transmission to the Council, urging that provision be made for the health department. FRANCHISE QUESTION.

What to do with the disputed franchise which is claimed by the Huntington syndicate, is a question which is agitating the Board of Public Works. The revision of the notice of sale may possibly come up in open session today, but such action is deemed unlikely. Until yesterday it was maintained that both companies were opposed to the readvertisement of the franchies, but now it is said that the Clark-Hook interests are anxious for another chance to bid on the concession. Most of the Councilmen are wary about discussing the matter, and it is very probable that the future action of the Council will be settled at a secret session. Yesterday it was stated that the West Eleventh-street franchise is practically dead, but that the board will offer it for sale if a request is made for such action.

Still Walking a Best.

Still Walking a Beat.

As anticipated, the Police Commission abandoned the drumbead court-martial prepared for Officer T. H. Ziegler, bacause it was said that he filtred with a young Chicago lady who is visiting here. Commissioner Keeney was the only member of the board to appear at the City Hall yesterday. Ziegler is anxious for an investigation, but an attempt will be made to dismiss the accusation without further publicity.

They Will Be Good.

Street Superintendent McGuire is very bopeful that the difficulty over the street-car crossings at Third and Spring streets and Third street and Broadway will be amicably arranged. Yesterday he was in communication with Manager J. A. Mulr, who processed a willingness to repair the street between the Los Angeles Rall-way Company's tracks.

WESTLAKE OIL CASE REACHES ITS SECONDARY STAGE.

Dr. Spinks closed the recital of his side of the case just as the court adjourned for the noon hour, having occupied two weeks and three days telling his troubles.

The case has proceeded slowly on account of the difficulty in prying out evidence from unwilling witnesses.

"We have had to pull everything out with a corkecrew," said Mr. Waters, grimly, to the court as he was bringing plaintiff's case to a close.

Spinks made an attempt to start the case out on a new tack yesterday

In the watches of Wednesday night it seems that Dr. Spinks got an inspiration to erplore his garret, and there, among some old papers, found an advertisement of the Westlake Oil Company, printed in The Times in February, 1900. He wanted to introduce this to show that by the insertion of that, Clark & Bryan had made representations to him concerning the oil stock.

Judge Trask would not allow the advertisement to be introduced.

The first witness called for Clark & Bryan was Alice J. Stephens, a stenographer in their real estate office. She practically called Dr. Spinks a liar, so it got to be quite a family affair.

Spinks went into the oil trade with his eyes open and not because of any persuasions on the part of Clark & Bryan, William Lane, the former field foreman of the Westlake company, was called as a witness.

He said that one Sunday in April, 1806 (a few months before the off trade,) Dr. Spinks came out to the oil field and said he would take it as a favor if Lane would show him the property. They went to the top of several tanks.

After that Spinks came out to the oil fields almost every Sunday morning and they talked oil.

ADVISED BY TOM HUGHES. Spinks told the witness that he had become interested in oil by talking with Tom Hughes, the oil expert. He said that Hughes told him Westlake was worth $1 and would be worth $2 was worth at and would be worth as in a year.

Witness said that they went over all the details of the company's oil products. Lane showed him the books and told him about the cost of constructing and running the wells.

told him about the cost of constructing and running the wells.

About June 12 or 15, Lane said, Spinks came out to the field, swelling with pride. He said he had acquired 18,000 shares of stock and now felt that he had more rights and privileges in the field.

Lane said that he asked Dr. Spinks if he had talked the matter over with Clark & Bryan.

Spinks said he had not. He said he hardly knew either of them; he had never spoken to Wesley Clark. He said Clark had the big head and that he hadn't consulted either of them.

Then witness related the following conversation which, he said, he had with Spinks:

CHANGE OF TUNE.

One day in December, 1900, Spinks came out to the field singing a very different tune.

He was dissatisfied with the way the company was managed.

He told Lane that he had heard that a man had come to him (Lane) and tried to get him to suggest to Clark & Bryan that they spend $1000 to "boost" the stock on the exchange. Spinks blamed lifm for having refused to make the suggestion and blamed Clark & Bryan for not putting up money to manipulate the stock on the exchange in such a manner as to keep up the prices in Westlake, which prices were then on the slump.

"Are you well acquising with Clark."

the slump.
"Are you well acquianted with Clark & Bryan?" seked Lane.
"No." said Spinks.
"Well, I guess not," said Lane; "the man who would make such a proposal to Clark & Bryan would be severely chastised." Lane told him he would cut his own right arm rather than make any such right arm rather than make any such proposal.

Dr. Spinks then said that Wesley Clark ought not to have resigned as secretary of the company.

"Why do you say that?" asked Lane, "when you and others have been working all this time to get him out?"

Spinks finally said that he did not blame Clark & Bryan for getting him into the Westlake Oil Company, but he thought they ought to have put up money to keep the Westlake stock up on the market.

Witness said it was.
Waters wanted to know if Clark hadn't known that Spinks was coming out to see the oil fields all this time.
"Yes, he asked what that tooth carpenter was doing out there, and I told him he had the oil fever."
"How did you know it would be dangerous to make such a proposition as boosting this stock to Clark & Bryan?"
"I knew that they had given me strict orders to never advise people to invest in the stock, and when they came out to tell them the exact truth about the company.

He also knew because of a letter.
Clark had written to the stock exchange about the way they were handling the stock.

"Don't you know," said Waters, "that that letter from Clark was a protest against selling the stock for less than $1?"

Witness said he was not conversant with the contents of the letter. "How did Dr. Spinks know that some one had tried to get you to suggest that Clark & Bryan put up a "$1000 to

Thus spake Neil Harrah, as he wept. He stood a prisoner in the Criminal Court, waiting for Judge Smith to sentence him on a charge of forgery, to which he had pleaded guilty. Not long ago Harrah, who says his home and family are in Colorado Springs, forged the name of James Murphy, a Santa Fé switchman, to an order on Montgomery Bros. jewelers, whereby

Clark had the big head and that he hadn't consulted either of them.

Then witness related the following conversation which, he said, he had with Spinks:

Lane: I wish you had advised with them about it.

Spinks: I have a high respect for them as real-estate men, but whatever they would say about oll would not influence me in the least. I bought this stock on the advice of Tom Hughes, may personal friend, and one of the greatest oil experts in America, and I relied also on the facts you have given me.

Spinks also said that if such men as Brotherton, Wade and Allen invested in oil, it must be safe.

It is reported that a process of cover-ing wooden doors with sheet metal by means of electrolysis is now being exmeans of electrolysis is now being experimented with at Bridgeport, Ct. The excellent fire-resisting qualities of a wooden door covered with tin plate have long been recognized, since the metal covering prevents the wood taking fire, while the use of wood for the framing avoids any risk of the warping of the door by heat, allowing flames to pass through, as has happened with doors built wholly of iron. A tin-plate-covered door has, however, a poor appearance, and is therefore suitable only for workshops and warehouses. By depositing copper or bronze electrolytically it is hoped to provide doors suitable for buildings of all kinds. The method followed is to place the carefully-finished wooden door in a hot solution of fossil gum in linseed oil. This completely closes the pores of the wood with an impervious varnish, so that on transferring the door to the electrolytic bath the solutions are not absorbed. On removal from the varnishing bath the edges of the door are bound with sheet copper fixed by cement, and the rest of the door is then covered with a conducting layer of bronze powder, after which the whole is placed in an electrolytic bath and copper deposited over the whole surface.

Vine Conditions.

A CAREFUL canvass of the Pomona district shows that the fruit is coming into the packing-houses cleaner, and in most cases, better than usual. It is true, the elements, were not altogether favorable to the lower sections, the orange crops suffering from frost the same as in a majority of the lower orobards of other good citrus sections. But the orchardists of Pomona gave an example last fail of thoroughness in fumigation that might be followed with profit by some other sections. They are now getting the benefits of their work, an inspection of the packing-houses showing the results of careful and systematic orchard management in the reception of fruit brought to the highest state of perfection possible, from the application of efficient methods.

Lively Planting.

Lively Planting.

Lively Planting have begin upon a large scale since the rains. During the month of February 125,500 plants were handled from the Los Angeles depot alone. The first part of the month little encouragement was offered by the weather for orchard extension. The last few days of the month the rains changed the conditions all round, only fairly starting the tree boom, however, for March will witness an enormous movement in fruit trees. The above figures do not include the shipment of 101,000 grapewines from Los Angeles which have a general certificate of cleanliness, upon which no account is kept by the city inspectors. The above figures do not indicate a net gain to the tree census of this section, for thousands of old trees and upprofitable varieties of all kinds have been removed to give place to the new plantsions.

Local Traffic Heavy.

Crowded as Los Angeles city seems with tourists every day, the rural districts are getting their share also, A small local train running only twenty-five miles out in the country, carried over 200 passengers last Tuesday, very largely of the tourist contingency. No season was ever more favorable for seeing the country places at their best. The hillisides and means are massed with fresh, green follage.

Local Traffic Heavy.

Crowded as Los Angeles city seems with tourists every day, the rural-districts are getting their share also. A small local train running only twenty-five miles out in the country, carried over 200 passengers last Tuesday, very largely of the tourist contingency. No season was ever more favorable for seeing the country places at their best. The hillisides and mesas are massed with fresh, green follage, the stony lands even responding to the wealth of warm rain, and the cultivated lands are simply matted with the coming cereal crops. When April comes, and with it the flowers, then will Southern California appear in the gorgeous colors which have made the land so famous. A strong array of farming interests is fighting the aggressors, apd it should be supplemented by individual effort all over the West.

Pear Blight and Bees.

There is much conflict this spring between the pear growers of some of the northern counties and the keepers of bees thereabouts. Last season the agitation over the carrying of blight infection into the pear orchards by the bees occupied the time of a large number of fruit growers, and they made such a strong case that this season land so famous. Wait a month or so, Mr. Tourist, if you wish to see the most beautiful landscape upon the face of the earth.

The Peach Moth.

Considerable loss was sustained last season from the ravages of the yeach moth dosens of specimens having been gathered in the San Fernando Vallers, where this comparatively new pest seemed most active. In another column will be found a timely article from the Suisun Courier, this insect having developed to a troublesome extent in many of the northern counties, as well as in the southern. Attached to the article is the most approved formula for the extermination of the moth. Peach growers of the South have in prospect a fine crop of peaches, the trees having resumed their normal condition after two years of sour sap or other depleting disease. Belgium to be absolutely necessary.

Events have proved that the Guide's correspondent was right in his calculated the constant of the port of New York alone 550,000 sacks of potatoes. Counting what came from October 1 to January 1 and including this current week's supply of 13,000 sacks, and with two steamers due with 15,000 sacks, New York has had every one of a million sacks of imported potatoes this season, and moreover, Baltimore, Boston and Philadelphia have had quite some cargoes, outside of this estimate. The duty being 70 cents as sack, New York's importations alone have put $700,000 into Uncle Sam's pocket. There is plenty of stuff still to come, though Belgian potatoes are being rapidly cleaned up, to such a degree, indeed, that American operators have called those representatives they sent over to Belgium back home. Still there might be a few bargains left there for a wideawake man who kept his eyes open. Scotch stock, too, is also arriving at its end. Much of the Scotch stock has arrived in poor condition, due to the steamers on the other side playing "Old Hob?" with their schedules of sailing, so that in many tase the polatoes had to be left on the docks in imminent danger of frosting, waiting for a steamer to carry them away.

MONROVIA.

TO IMPROVE WATER SYSTEM.

MONROVIA, March 6.—At a special session of the City Council jast evening steps were taken that will place Monrovia's water system on a par with the best in the State. Another artesian well is to be sunk on the Chapman raneh, bids for which will be received at once, that the well may be completed before the summer season. Two additional reservoirs are also to be constructed, one on Primrose avenue, a short distance above White Oak. An nere (of land has just been purchased for this purpose. Another reservoir is to be) built close to the foothills, near the head of J. I. C. avenue. The latter will be for domestic supply for that section of town, and will be supplied from reservoir No. 3. These additions to the water system will do away with one engineer and will save considersible meney to the city.

STRICKEN ON HIGHWAY.

All day Tuesday a man lay by the roadside in Lower Duarte. As it was supposed he was drunk, very little attention was paid to him until toward evening. He proved to be quite ill and was moved to a neighboring vacant house, where he was fed and cared for, and the authorities notified to remove him to the County Hospital. He would give no information regarding himself, and did not seem to care to live.

HER IRON CROSS. Massachusetts Woman Was Decorated by Emperor William I. With the

by Emperor William I. With the Famous Emblem of Courage.

[Kansas City Star:] One woman alone in America is entitled to wear the German "Cross of Merit." She is the only woman in America save one, who wears the "Cross of Iron," that rare decoration being more highly coveted even than the Victoria Cross, and she is the only woman in America whom the military officers composing the suite of Prince Henry of Prussia would be officially obliged to salute with the German salute of honor.

The little lady who bears these distinctions is the Baroness Von Olenhausen, now nearly 80 years old. She is the widow of a German nobleman, though born in historic Lexington. Mass., of the bluest-blooded revolutionary stock. She has lived for the last quarter of a century in Massachusetta, passing the time either in Boston or in her old home in Lexington.

Only to her personal friends, who are many, and who always speak of her as "the madame," is the story of the thrilling events of her life known.
The little madame wears upon her breast the Iron Cross, pinned there by Emperor William I. of Germany, for her heroic service in behalf of the German fatherland.

When madame was a girl, dainty, fresh-cheeked and blue-eyed, she fell in love with a German nobleman who had come to this country to practice his profession. He was a chemist, and deeply learned. Theodore Parker declared him to be the most profound scholar he had ever known.

She was an artist. Lines of beauty grew wherever she touched brush or pencil. The dignity, the culture, the tenderness of the German baron woke in her breast the chord of love. They were married, and for ten years their life was a happy, uneventful one. Then Baron Von Olenhausen died. It was thank offering for the happiness that had been vouchsafed her for a decade and more. She would give her strength and time to the sick and suffering.

The Civil War broke out. The little madame volunteered as a surgical nurse, and was with Dorothea Dix all through the struggle. Then came the Franco-Prussian war. Alone, she sailed for Germany. She reached Berlin and proffered her services. But it was some time before she received an appointment. Once appointed, she remained in active service until after peace was declared.

It was a cross of honor given only for the most meritorious services of heroism to the fatherland. It was revived, with slight modifications, in July, 1870, by Emperoism II.

a black-and-white ribbon of watered silk.

Whenever any person wearing the cross passes a German barracks or garrison, the guard on duty immediately calls, "Corporal of the guard, salute the iron cross," and the guard of honor is called out to give its salute to the heroism indicated by the little iron badge. Whenever a wearer of the cross of iron dies, a military escort follows the coffin, and the cross, borne on a cushion, is carried at the head by the commander of the escort. Then the cross must be returned to the government.
